VERDT small

Final return on an agreed buyback

An agreed return of 10% becomes a final return of 13.5%. The issuer offer states the specific final rate and payout.

The issuer may offer a buyback no earlier than 12 months after purchase. No buyback entitlement. No bonus tokens at purchase.

You are buying the VERDT token

VERDT small is neither a fund share nor the VERDT large contractual programme.

EUR 100–1,000	Market outcome	Token rights
Per transaction. Standard VERDT on BNB Smart Chain (BEP-20).	Profit or loss arises from changes in the sale price. Neither the return nor recovery of the investment is fixed.	No interest, dividends, land ownership, conversion or individual pledge.

Agricultural companies’ profits are not automatically paid to small token holders.

Use of VERDT sale proceeds

Verbatim basic purpose from the white paper

The proceeds from the sale of VERDT will be used by the issuer to finance the subsidiary’s acquisition of agricultural assets, agricultural operations and the token project, including exchange listings, liquidity and marketing. Liabilities arising from asset acquisitions and operating liabilities relating to the operations of the issuer and its subsidiary will be paid.

Subsidiary: APF Malta Real Estate Limited (APF Malta).

APFC 2024: documented market price growth

Historical comparison with an agriculture-focused token. Opening price index = 100.

Month-end index values, not daily highs.

APFC history is not a VERDT forecast. The same source reports an APFC decline of 91.35% in 2025.

How APFC and VERDT small are comparable

The comparison concerns project focus and the nature of a standard token.

Parameter	APFC	VERDT small
Project focus	Land and agricultural projects	Group land and operating SPVs
Recurring holder income	No entitlement under the white paper	No entitlement under the white paper
Blockchain	Ethereum / ERC-20	BNB Smart Chain / BEP-20
Price and market	Documented 2024 history	Future price and liquidity uncertain

Different issuers, token supply, networks and liquidity. APFC growth does not automatically carry over to VERDT.

Buyback example: client receives CZK 28,375

Model purchase of CZK 25,000. An agreed return of 10% increases to a final 13.5% on buyback.

Original purchase price	Final return	Buyback payout
CZK 25,000	13.5%	CZK 28,375

Client gain: CZK 3,375 before costs and tax. The buyback offer states the final rate and payout. This is a calculation example, not a pre-offered rate.

Possible buyback and delivery

The issuer may offer a buyback no earlier than 12 months after purchase, subject to available funds. A client cannot compel an offer or its execution.

On an agreed buyback, the agreed return rate increases by 3.5 percentage points. For example, an agreed 10% becomes a final 13.5%. The offer states the final return and exact payout.

Direct delivery after purchase: within 3 business days after receipt of the full price and fulfilment of contractual conditions. The seller pays the initial delivery network fee.

The issuer bonus does not apply to ordinary sales to third parties. The outcome depends on the achieved market price, exchange rates and costs.
